—The many friends of Mrs. J. C. Albertson will regret to learn of her death, which occurred at her home near Salem on October 19, 1915, after a lingering illness. She died saying she was happy. She leaves nine children and her husband to mourn her death. Mrs. Albertson was born January 17, 1869, and was married January 7, 1883. Her maiden name was Miss Julia Moss, she being a daughter of the late Miles Moss, of the Salem section. To the bereaved relatives is extended the sympathy of many friends.

—Double Springs and Whetstone school districts have recently been consolidated by the County Board of Education and the trustees chosen for the new district are W. B. Mongold, L. N. Robins and I. W. Henry. The consolidation will prove of material benefit to the citizens of both old districts. It is probable that later a portion of Double Springs district will be cut off and added to Bethlehem if it is found desirable and advantageous. The new consolidated district has as yet not been named or numbered.

—We had the pleasure of seeing last week the largest Irish potato we have ever seen. It measured 10 inches in length, 3 inches in depth and 1½ inches in width as it lay on our desk. It is a perfect specimen, having no blemish on it. The only grudge we hold against this potato is that it was not grown in Oconee. E. C. Land, of Walhalla, received it through the mail, it having come by parcel post all the way from Pony, Mont., where it was grown by his brother, J. D. Land. The parcel post charge for transportation of this one tuber was 11c.

—It will be of interest to the many friends of Rev. and Mrs. J. P. Dendy to learn that they are now located at Loxonia, Ga., having moved there from Athens, Tenn., where they had been living for some time. Rev. Mr. Dendy has accepted a call to the pastorate of a group of churches near Loxonia, in Franklin county. Mrs. Dendy is also well known to many in Oconee, she having been born at Westminster. The Westminster Tribune states that she was the first baby born in that town. Mr. Dendy is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Dendy, of Richland.

—E. M. DuPre brought to Walhalla last Saturday four coons that he had caught in the mountains above his home. He and his son went early in the morning to the mountain place belonging to another son, where, after some skirmishing around in the dark, with torches, they located the coons in a high tree. The old female was followed by three of her young, about two-thirds grown. The whole bunch was captured, the old coon was caught by the dogs and she jumped from the tree and the younger ones were shot from the tree. The four "dressed" animals were brought to town for exhibition. The skins are bringing a fair price, it is said, but they are not among the high-priced skins.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Wilson and son James left Monday for Columbia to attend the State Fair and visit among relatives. It will be of interest to many here and elsewhere to learn that Miss Mary Ellen Wilson, of Walhalla, now a student at Wintthrop, was chosen as one of the maids of honor to the "Queen of the Harvest Jubilee." The young lady chosen as queen is Miss Bessie McKelthen, of Georgetown, whose vote in the "beauty contest" stood at more than a million and a half. Miss Wilson was among the maids of honor at the coronation Monday evening. Two of the twelve young ladies chosen as maids of honor were unable to attend. Miss Wilson has received the congratulations of many friends near and far upon her receiving a "place in the picture" among the State's beauties.

—Mr. and Mrs. Neill Dodd and children, of Eastern North Carolina, spent last week near Walhalla visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Pearson, parents of Mrs. Dodd. They drove through the country in their new Ford car, making the trip over muddy roads and without mishap.

—Tugaloo Tribune, Oct. 26: "Rev. Geo. M. Wilcox, of Walhalla, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday. He came down specially to perform the rites of baptism to little James Brevard Wallace, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Wallace. Mr. Wilcox and Mr. Wallace were classmates in the Theological Seminary."

—Dr. Jack D. Verner left last week for Griffin, Ga., where he has decided to locate for the practice of his profession. Dr. Verner is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Verner, of Walhalla, and has a host of friends here and elsewhere who will join with The Courier in wishing him well in his adopted home and an abundant success in his chosen profession.

—On October 16th little Miss Caroline Darby celebrated her 8th birthday by inviting a number of her little friends to her home for a party. The afternoon was spent most enjoyably in playing games of different kinds on the lawn. Delicious refreshments were served. We congratulate the little Miss on having thus far journeyed safely through life and hope that she may live to celebrate 8 times 8 and then some.

—Attention is directed to the advertisement of the Norman Drug Store and Norman's Lower Store, F. E. Harrison, manager. The Norman stores are becoming more and more popular, trading places. "A square deal always" is the motto they are living up to. See announcements on this page. J. D. Abbott, a graduate in pharmacy, has recently accepted a position with the Norman Drug Store, where he will be pleased to meet and serve his friends of the town and community.

—Mrs. Jas. H. Darby was the charming hostess on Monday at an informal auction bridge party, complimentary to Mrs. C. E. Platt, of Charlotte. At the close of a number of exciting hands, Mrs. J. A. Steck having highest score, was presented with a beautiful Nepon bon-bon dish, while the honoree was given a dainty jewelry box in the same pretty ware. A delicious salad course was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Strother. Mrs. Darby's guests were Messdames J. A. Ansel, J. A. Steck, E. L. Herndon, C. E. Platt, Misses Eloise Strother, Janie Neville, Julia Maxwell and Katie Harrison.

—Superintendent of Education T. A. Smith has begun his annual visits to the schools of Oconee. It will take him several weeks to get over the whole county. During this period of visiting Mr. Smith will necessarily be absent a great deal of his time, and he requests the public not to call at his office on business except on Fridays and Saturdays of each week until otherwise advised. Of course he will be in his office just as much as possible, but he cannot assure teachers, trustees or others having business with him that he will be in his office at any time except the days noted until after the visiting of the county schools has been completed.

—The Woman's Missionary Society of the Walhalla Methodist church will next week observe a week of special prayer and self-denial. Meetings will be held daily at the homes of several of the members. The hour will be 4 o'clock. The offerings will be devoted to the new work in Japan. Next Sunday morning, 31st instant, Dr. J. L. Stokes will deliver a discourse appropriate to this special season. The daily meetings will succeed as follows: Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. J. L. Stokes; Tuesday, Mrs. J. D. Perry; Wednesday, Mrs. E. L. Herndon; Thursday, Mrs. J. W. Bell; Friday, Mrs. A. P. Crisp. It is earnestly desired that all the members attend these meetings, and that many others come also. All women interested in the cause of missions are cordially invited.

Austrian Murders Englishman.

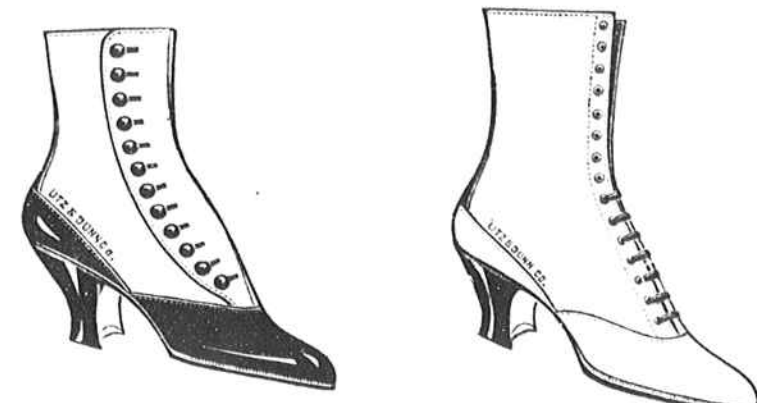

Denver, Colo., Oct. 22.—Race hatred, stirred up by the European war and resulting in murder, led to the arrest here to-day of George Flaragrad, an Austrian, on a charge of killing George Gray, an Englishman. Both men were employed in a railroad machine shop.

The police say they have information that Flaragrad, upon learning that his brother had been killed by the allies in Europe, became so enraged he pushed Gray into a powerful drill press, where the Englishman was crushed to death.
